It is a pleasure to write this letter in recommendation of Collin Ferguson for a role within the broadcasting space. I have known Collin for 8 years, with the most recent 4 years as his supervisor at The Barton Center for Diabetes Education, Inc., an organization that specializes in camping programs for children living with Type 1 Diabetes. During his time as a staff member, Collin worked as a Junior Counselor, Counselor, and Senior Counselor with all varieties of age groups and also worked alongside other cabin staff from a variety of experience levels and backgrounds.

As a cabin counselor, Collin was responsible for managing a group of 12-20 campers and leading various activities throughout each day. Collin displayed excellence in all aspects while in these roles and would continually go above and beyond to ensure the experience at camp was as impactful as possible for the campers and everyone around him. Campers and fellow staff members all look to Collin as a natural leader and someone who can make any situation exciting and invigorating.

In the time that I have been Collin's supervisor, he has always shown immense dedication, enthusiasm, and excitement towards all aspects of work and life. He is constantly the first to volunteer to lead a program, try something new, or be the high energy vocal leader for a large group. Collin is able to apply these three skills in any situation that he is in seamlessly. His ability to balance the use of these in a variety of settings is also notable, as he is able to effectively transition between being the silly, loud, fun leader of a group of campers on an activity to utilizing his leadership in more serious settings such as the closing ceremonies for each session.

This summer, Collin acted as a Senior Counselor of a cabin and also filled in as our Program Director when needed as well. As a senior counselor, Collin did fantastic with ensuring all campers felt included and valued at camp and was quick to help the other counselors within the cabin develop their skills with the campers. He would go above and beyond to plan extra activities for his campers and make even the smallest of free time periods an exciting moment for them. While filling in as Program Director, Collin organized full days of activities and schedules for all campers and staff at camp and utilized his high energy and ability to capture attention to ensure that all aspects of the days flowed easily and all activities were introduced with high excitement that spread to all involved.

Overall, I recommend Collin to any position within this space to the highest degree. His dedication and care for the work that he does, combined with his natural leadership skill and ability to intertwine high energy and enthusiasm into every aspect of life allow him to excel at all tasks and challenges that come his way. If you have any questions, or would like to discuss further, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Thank you,
